RGL Forensics
Discovering & Defining Financial Value

Firm Overview

About Us

RGL Forensics is a multidisciplinary forensic accounting and consulting firm that delivers accurate and reliable financial analysis for companies in critical situations. Our professionals have decades of experience delivering forensic financial services with accuracy, efficiency and integrity.

> Our team spans 26 offices on five continents, with one goal: to provide complete, accurate financial analysis.

We serve multinational corporations, global insurance companies, leading law firms and government entities.

RGL's approach to the quantification of economic damages and financial analysis is based on an integration of accounting, economics and finance principles. We bring business pragmatism and objective, independent analysis to clients on every assignment. Our professionals have a depth of sector-specific knowledge across a wide range of industries, having spent extensive amounts of time in the field gathering information first-hand and examining the environment and contextual setting of each engagement. Our professionals possess the certifications and real-world expertise that provide RGL with the ability to examine each assignment with a unique perspective.

In every engagement, we identify the relevant issues, isolate key business metrics, evaluate their financial impact and deliver a full financial picture that creates clarity in complex situations. We provide comprehensive forensic accounting, corporate finance, fraud investigation, expert witness and forensic technology services, going beyond the numbers to deliver financial transparency in legal cases and insurance claims.

RGL has cultivated an accomplished and talented workforce and we continually invest in training and development for our team to ensure our clients receive industry-leading service. Our staff members speak 17 languages, allowing us to effectively manage complex cases and claims around the world – working in local jurisdictions with an ability to speak directly with the parties impacted.

> When it is essential to accurately discover and define financial value, our clients count on the global services of RGL Forensics.

Those who rely on RGL to discover and define financial value include professionals in the following sectors:

Insurance – for claims made under property, liability and other insurance policies.

Legal – for corporate transactions and civil and criminal disputes.

Corporate – for matters relating to fraud, valuation, bankruptcy, computer forensics, and in regulatory investigations.

Public Sector – for matters pertaining to economic losses, internal compliance, regulatory oversight – and when investigating fraud.

Each forensic financial investigation is unique. When insurance, legal, corporate and public sector professionals must establish the true facts and the correct figures in the course of a deal or a dispute, they rely on RGL Forensics.
